

First Aid Kits

The Health and Safety (First Aid) Regulations 1981 and Approved Code of Practice 1997 advise that it is the duty of each employer to decide upon the level of kit required based on risk assessment i.e. low, medium or high risk and to ensure that adequate first aid provision is made for their employees at all times should they become injured or become ill at work.

- HSE 10 kit – suitable for establishments with up to 10 employees in a low or moderate risk environment, or up to 5 employees in a higher risk environment
- HSE 20 kit - suitable for establishments with up to 20 employees in a low or moderate risk environment, or up to 10 employees in a higher risk environment
- HSE 50 kit - suitable for establishments with up to 50 employees in a low or moderate risk environment, or up to 25 employees in a higher risk environment
- HSE 1 (or Travel) kit – Suitable for an employees when working away from their main place of employment, e.g. delivery driver or repairman.
